

The Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology, Inc
Newsletter Fall 2012

State of the Society—Update

Financial instability has forced the Society to increase annual membership dues in each membership category except the student level. The Society is on a mission to recruit students and young members so it was felt to be counterproductive to raise dues on that group. The new dues schedule is included on the membership form included in this newsletter. 2013 membership fees are due now. Again, we are asking that members consider joining at the sustaining level if it is financially possible to do that. The support for educational programs, Archaeology Month in Pennsylvania and the financial health of the Society depend on your continued support. Timely renewal prevents the costly mailing of journals and newsletters at a higher rate. We still need to cut back on the ever rising mailing costs by encouraging members to request the delivery of the SPA Newsletter by email. We need to increase membership to insure survival. Our members are reminded to consider a donation to the Society to remember a loved one or special occasion, or to plan to remember the SPA in your will.

A Reminder too that the Society has a new mailing address: The Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology, Inc., P.O. Box 213, New Bethlehem, PA 16242.

Highlights of the 83rd Annual Meeting of the SPA

A dues increase will be implemented in 2013.

The Elmer Erb Fund made money last year and made up the losses incurred in 2008. The Fund is solvent.

The 2013 meeting will be held in Uniontown, PA on April 19-21 hosted by Mon-Yough Chapter.

PAC NEWSPAC sponsored Archaeology Day at the Capitol. Future Archaeology Day events will be held on the last Wednesday of October. The Fisher award was given to Charles Jacob, chairperson of the board of supervisors for Warwick Township in Chester County. PAC is looking for future recipients from the western part of the state, which has been under-represented in recent years. The Fisher Award which recognizes public officials for their help in conservation of historic and archaeological resources.

The Pennsylvania Archaeologist Editor Bill Tippins suggested a theme issue dealing with archaeology of the Civil War or other conflicts. If anyone has research or papers on Civil War related topics, please contact the editor.

Site Survey/PASS forms—Noel Strattan reported that there are now 22,160 sites recorded in Pennsylvania. The county with the most new sites recorded was Washington County with 78 new sites. Remember to include chapter affiliations when recording sites.

Collections and Curation Committee—Janet Johnson is working with Noel Strattan on the weekly blog which is spotlighting counties. She welcomes comment and participation by the archaeological community statewide. A small brochure or rack card will be produced to outline the procedure for donating collections to the museum.

Chapter reports were received from all but two of the active chapters of the SPA.

Education Committee—Catherine Spohn summarized the work of the education committee. The committee is currently planning another event at Cabela's and looking for a venue in the western part of the state. Rack cards have been printed and are available for promotional use, a speakers list is being compiled and educational materials are being developed to accompany the 2012 poster and calendar for Archaeology Month.

Election of Elmer Erb Permanent Fund Trustees Gregory Lattanzi and Philip Neusius to 6 year terms ending in 2018. Aurora Balderas presented a demonstration of the proposed website revision. The website will be moved to the Society's official address.

Deceased Members 2011-2012: Edmund Niklewski, Cumberland Valley Chapter #27

SPA Annual Awards

The following Awards were presented at the Annual Meeting Awards Banquet in April

- Archey Awards were presented to: David Sorg, North Fork Chapter #29 and Mary Jane Shaw, Westmoreland Archaeological Society #23
- John Witthoff Award for most new members to the John Shrader Chapter #21
- Frances Dorrance Award for the sites recorded to Allegheny Chapter #1
- Shrader/George Award for youth involvement to Nicholas Morgart, Westmoreland Archaeological Society Chapter #23
- Youth recognition certificates to Ivy Kuhrman, Ohio Valley Chapter #22 and Dalton Kubovsck, John Shrader Chapter #21

No nominations were received for the J. Alden Mason Award, the Lifetime Achievement Award or for the Jacob L. Grimm c-14 Award.

James W. Hatch Scholarship

Ryan Spittler and Lydia Dehaven have been selected to receive the 2012 James W. Hatch Scholarships to attend the Society for Pennsylvania/Pennsylvania Archaeological Council joint annual meeting in Clarion, PA, April 13-15. The awards will be made at the SPA banquet on Saturday evening.

Fred Kinsey Award

The Kinsey Scholarship was created to encourage students to attend the meetings, provide financial support for the expenses, and assist students in preparing papers for future publication in the journal of the Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology (SPA). Fred Kinsey was a former archaeologist with the Section of Archaeology and continued his career in archaeology at the North Museum in Lancaster and later teaching at Franklin & Marshall College.

Scholarship awards went to:

Stacie Riggan, California University of Pennsylvania

Jennifer Rankin, Temple University

Archaeology Month 2012 Calendar of Events

Bald Eagle Chapter #24

"Those Who Came Before--The Archaeology of Centre County's Native Americans", exhibit open through October at the Centre County Historical Society, 1001 East College Avenue, State College, PA. Open Wednesday, Friday, and Sunday 1-4 p.m. or by appointment. 814-234-4779, www.centrecountyhistory.org.

Submitted by Mary Alice Graetzer for SPA Chapter 24.

Frances Dorrance Chapter #11

Historical and Native American Indian archaeology work is in progress along the Susquehanna River/ Lackawanna Rivers. Conrail Research Site 36LU169 continues at the Coxtan Rail Yards, Duryea, Pa. We are open to visitation Sundays from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Rain or Shine. For more information contact: Ted Baird tedbaird@verizon.net or Edythe L. Gozdiskowski elgozdiskowski@yahoo.com.

Frances Dorrance Chapter 11 holds meetings for chapter members and the public with speakers the last Tuesday of the month in the Duryea Community Building, Main Street, Duryea, Pa. Time: 7 p.m. - 9 p.m. Exception being the months of June, July, August, and December.

Submitted by Edythe L. Gozdiskowski for SPA Chapter 11.

HELP NEEDED: Pennsylvania Farm Show is scheduled for January 5, 12, 2013—the display is back on the main floor with approximately 26,000 visitors with a larger space but without Bob Winters. The theme will be: The French and Indian War Forts. Kurt Carr suggested that the SPA man a section of the exhibit for the duration of the show. This would be a commitment from the Society for each day of the event. Many volunteers will be needed. Having a presence at the Farm show would be a way of promoting archaeology, the Society and possibly increasing membership. Volunteers are needed now. If you are interested in helping with the Farm Show, please contact Kurt at: kcarr@pa.gov.

Cabela's Event is scheduled for October 21, 2012 Volunteers for an event sponsored by the Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology at Cabelas Outfitter store, Hamburg on Sunday, October 21, 2012. This day long program will feature archaeologists from The State Museum of Pennsylvania, displays of archaeological materials by local collectors, and a twenty foot replica of a Native American dugout canoe. The public is invited to bring artifacts for identification and learn about the value of archaeology in preserving the heritage of the community.

Volunteers are needed to offer instruction and assistance for recording archaeological sites in the Cultural Resources Database maintained by the Bureau for Historic Preservation. Preservation of our archaeological heritage is dependent on individuals who record their knowledge of archaeological collections and sites in the Pennsylvania Archaeological Site Survey files. These files are a valuable resource for archaeologist tasked with reviewing construction and development projects, and important for preserving our past for the future.

Volunteers are requested immediately for this event and display area is available for chapters to promote their work and perhaps educate the public and recruit new members. Please contact Jim Wosochlo at: jameswosochlo@yahoo.com to arrange display space and to volunteer. This event reaches a VERY large audience. It is an opportunity not to be wasted.

Section of Archaeology, The State Museum of Pennsylvania:
Archaeology Public Outreach Events Fall/Winter 2012

Fort Hunter September 5 to October 12 – The Section of Archaeology will be continuing our investigation of the French and Indian War fort at Fort Hunter Mansion and Park, Harrisburg. This year we will focus on the excavation of the well and the investigation of the road/ditch feature in the front yard. SPA members should contact Kurt Carr at 717-783-9926 if they are interested in volunteering.

Special Events: Archaeological Conservancy tour on	September 12
Fort Hunter Days	September 16
Indian Festival Days	October 7
Close	October 12

Cabela's Sunday October 21 – In cooperation with the Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology, the Section of Archaeology will have an information display on Pennsylvania archaeology featuring the dugout canoe and including the tools that were used to make it.

Archaeology Day at the Capital – October 31 – In the East Atrium of the State Capitol, the Archaeology Section will have an information stand emphasizing the contributions of archaeology to our society. This is an opportunity to interact with our legislators and promote the preservation of archaeological resources.

Workshops in Archaeology – November 3- Contact, Conflict and Colonization: The Archaeology of Penn's Woods – This is a daylong event to be held in the State Museum of Pennsylvania addressing the interaction of native peoples and Europeans in Pennsylvania from an archaeological perspective. It is open to the public and there is a small registration fee. Visit our web site www.PaArchaeology.state.pa.us for more information.

Farm Show 2013 – January 5, 2013 – January 12, 2013- The theme of this year's archaeology exhibit is The Archaeology of the French and Indian War in Pennsylvania. This event is held in cooperation with the Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology, Inc. and the Pennsylvania Archaeological Council. With over 500,000 people visiting the Farm Show, this is the largest public outreach event that we attend. It represents a great opportunity to interact with the public and promote the preservation of archaeological resources but we need your help. Please contact Kurt Carr at 717-783-9926 if you are interested in volunteering.

The SPA website is undergoing a complete transformation. If all goes as planned, it will be up and running for the celebration of Archaeology Month in Pennsylvania, October 2012. Please submit any information on your chapters, committee and public announcements for be added to the website to: Jim Wosochlo at: jameswosochlo@yahoo.com

2012 ANNUAL WORKSHOPS IN ARCHAEOLOGY PROGRAM

Saturday, November 3, 2012
The State Museum of Pennsylvania
300 North Street
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Cosponsored By: Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology, Pennsylvania Archaeological Council, and The Archaeology Section of The State Museum of Pennsylvania invites you to attend the annual Workshops in Archaeology on Saturday, November 3, 2012. Designed for the public, this year's program features presentations focused on European colonization from the Contact Period, 1550 AD, through the end of the Revolutionary War in 1783. This early period of the Commonwealth's history was marked by dramatic cultural changes among the native peoples of Penn's Woods resulting from contact with European traders and colonists. Presentations will focus on the archaeological evidence of this changing frontier and the impact of trade and warfare on settlement and colonization. Additional programming includes a flint knapping demonstration, French & Indian War re-enactors, and an artifact identification session. The Bureau for Historic Preservation will provide information and assistance in recording archaeological sites which is essential for protecting and preserving our archaeological heritage. Closing comments from Steve Warfel will summarize the workshop sessions and reflect on this significant period in Pennsylvania history. The workshops will be followed by a reception in the Anthropology and Archaeology Gallery of The State Museum where the audience may interact with presenters.

Contact, Conflict and Colonization: The Archaeology of Penn's Woods

Session Descriptions

9:10 a.m.-9:50 a.m. [Session 1] Proto-Contact Monongahela Culture

James Herbstritt, The State Museum of Pennsylvania

The focus of this presentation is the Proto-Contact Monongahela trade of southwestern Pennsylvania, West Virginia Panhandle and western Maryland between 1575-1615/30. Monongahela settlements, routes of trade and trade objects of the earliest period are highlighted.

9:50 a.m.-10:30 a.m.

[Session 2] The Lemoyne Site: A Susquehannock Village in Cumberland County, PA

Andrew Wyatt, M.A.

This presentation will feature findings from recent archaeological investigations sponsored by Norfolk Southern Rail-way and the Borough of Lemoyne which produced evidence of a Native American Susquehannock village site dating between 1610 and 1625 A.D. The discovery of this site has provided archaeologists with a clearer understanding of Susquehannock settlement patterns in the lower Susquehanna Valley. Additionally, the systematic recovery of botanical remains through flotation has supplied valuable information in forming a more comprehensive picture of Susquehannock agricultural practices.

10:45 a.m.-11:25 a.m.

[Session 3] Archaeology of the Lenape: Greg Lattanzi, Assistant Curator, Bureau of Archaeology & Ethnography, N J State Museum

Archaeology conducted on sites located in the Delaware River Valley has provided archaeologists with a better understanding of the prehistory of this region and the culture groups who lived here. Lenape Indians who occupied this region when Dutch, English and Swedish traders began to arrive in Pennsylvania experienced the earliest European colonization in Pennsylvania. Examination of the archaeological evidence of this cultural exchange will be presented and discussed.

11:25 a.m.-12:05 p.m.

[Session 4] Susquehannock Use of Copper-Based Metals during the Early and Middle Contact Periods

Lisa Marie Anselmi, Ph.D., SUNY Buffalo State

This presentation explores the use of European-introduced copper-based metals by the Susquehannocks during the late 16th and early 17th centuries. The manufacturing techniques used and the forms crafted by the Susquehannock are out-lined and possible interactions among the Susquehannock and other Northern Iroquoian nations are suggested.

9:00-12:00 p.m. - Auditorium Foyer Flint Knapping Demonstration, Steve Nissly

This presentation will feature a highly experienced flint knapper who will demonstrate how stone tools were made during the Prehistoric and Contact periods in Pennsylvania.

1:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. - Auditorium Foyer

18th Century Reenactors Phil Craver and William Laubscher

These experienced presenters portray Native Americans who participated in the turbulent period of the French & Indian War and the American Revolution.

1:10 p.m. -3:30 p.m. - Curiosity Connection Artifact Identification by Doug McLearn, Chief, Archaeology & Protection and Kira Heinrich, Bureau for Historic Preservation

These two individuals have over 50 years of experience with identifying archaeological artifacts. Bring in your historic or prehistoric artifacts for analysis by the experts.

1:10 p.m.-1:50 p.m.

[Session 5] Madame Montour's Otstonwakin: Colonial Encounters on the Eve of the French & Indian War

Dr. Mary Ann Levine, Franklin & Marshall College

This presentation focuses on early 18th century colonial encounters just prior to the French & Indian War through the use of both ethnohistoric documents and the archaeological evidence recovered from excavations conducted at Otstonwakin near present day Montoursville, Pennsylvania. Madame Montour, a woman of Native and European descent, served as a translator to colonial governments, worked as a frontier diplomat, and provided leadership to this multinational Native American village.

1:50 p.m. - 2:30 p.m. [Session 6] Between Two Empires: Archaeology at Fort Shirley and Aughwick Dr. Jonathan A. Burns, Juniata College & Penn State University

Recent excavations at Fort Shirley (36HU94), in Huntingdon County, have revealed details of frontier life during the beginning of the French & Indian War in North America. Built by George Croghan in 1755, the palisade enclosure is a rare example of a provincial fort exhibiting a distinct Native American presence, a testament to the special relationship between Croghan and the Ohio Seneca. Over the past three summers of excavations, the Penn State University Archaeology field school has located the fort's palisade walls and a plethora of artifacts informative of culture contact and defense on the Pennsylvania frontier. Additionally during the 2012 season, survey testing has located Aughwick Old Town (1754-1756)—the refugee village occupied by the influential Seneca (or Mingo) that sided with the British during both Washington's and Braddock's expeditions to the Ohio Country.

2:30 p.m. – 3:10 p.m.

[Session 7] In Search of the Fort at Fort Hunter, Janet R. Johnson, Curator, The State Museum of Pennsylvania

Archaeology conducted at Fort Hunter Mansion and Park (36Da159) over the past six years by The State Museum of Pennsylvania has yielded hundreds of fort period (1756-1763) artifacts and several features. Artifacts and features indicate the presence of the fort, but a stockade line has not been discovered. Fort Hunter served as a supply fort along the western frontier and was one of three forts in a line of defense along the Susquehanna River erected during the early stages of the French & Indian War. These excavations also serve as public outreach for visitors who have been able to see archaeologists at work and better appreciate the contributions of archaeology to our heritage.

3:30 p.m. - 4:10 p.m.

[Session 8] The Preservation of Camp Security, A Revolutionary War Prison Camp, Mark Shaffer, BHP

This presentation summarizes the history of Camp Security, a prisoner-of-war camp for British captives. Archaeological investigations conducted in 1979 and 2000 are discussed, as is the work of the Friends of Camp Security, an organization founded by local historic preservation advocates, which has been instrumental in the preservation of this unique site.

4:10 p.m. - 5:00 p.m.

Closing Thoughts Stephen G. Warfel, Sr. Curator of Archaeology (retired) A review of important themes and trends introduced by Workshops presenters throughout the day. Comments will particularly focus on the archaeology of the Contact Period, French & Indian War, Revolutionary War sites
